FOREWORD

This year was commemorated in gold, but more dearly in memories. The largest enrollment in the history of Wausau Senior High encountered new faces, fun, and problems. Seniors characterized animals in a lively satire, REYNARD THE FOX; then HARVEY, a comedy about a big white rabbit, was presented in the spring. Junior girls sponsored a holiday discotheque, and their class bid farewell at the Prom to the seniors with "A Taste of Honey". Each season brought its sports in which Wausau High excelled, as is its tradition.

Even with all the fun, education was still the first concern for most students. Senior themes, college boards, and semester exams filled hours with study and occasional worry. Ecstatic bursts of happiness with each college acceptance echoed through the halls in spring. And finally in June all the work seemed worth while as with a feeling of triumph, the members of the class of 1966 received their diplomas.

*Indisputably
the most important year of your life

enter the world of work. You will never (ick!) meet again.

The old building, which today holds our administration and social science departments, housed all activities in 1917.

Additions To Old Building Broadened

Though the school's facade has changed throughout the years, the scholastic goals of its students have remained the same.

In August when students were procrastinating the thought of school, teachers were at work preparing lessons and making arrangements for books. The football team, too, was getting into shape for the big 1965 fall season. Band members, in order to put on an impressive half-time show for the first game, began practicing "eight steps to five yards" several weeks before classes started.

When students entered Wausau Senior High in early September with first day enthusiasm, they found a few changes from the preceding year. Two new vice-principals, Mr. Jacobson and Mr. Poulos, were helping Principal Taylor with his administrative work. A new method for checking absentees was instituted by the new attendance director Mr. Cox.

Soon the inevitable problems resulting from changes in the old system were solved, and school life settled into a smooth-running routine. Juniors and seniors quickly renewed old friendships with classmates and teachers. Horace Mann and John Muir graduates made friends of last year's rivals. Together they familiarized themselves with the unique life of Wausau High. Through cooperation, 2150 students studied in a pleasant atmosphere as the school operated efficiently despite its increased size. By October both teachers and students began to feel at home in the three buildings of W.H.S.

Back in 1917, horses carried the brunt of the load in most parades, supplying both the power and the decorating space.

Today the motor driven vehicles have taken over, especially during our campaign parade around school during Wausau Week.

Physical Plant And Strengthened Goals

Wausau Senior High has grown both physically and academically from only one building to a complex of three.

The Student Council with its newly-elected President Steve Lonsdorf welcomed the student body back after an entirely too short vacation.

Variable Fall Days Matched Diversity Of

Crowds, crowds, and more crowds! It seemed to many students that the halls were shrinking.

This fall our cross country team put its best foot forward to turn in a very successful record.

Our band's pre-game program always included the solemn raising of our national flag accompanied by the Star Spangled Banner

Whether it was a typically crisp and clear Indian Summer day or the dull, rainy, early winter kind, students of Wausau High found plenty to keep them busy. As soon as the basic school routine had settled down, teachers and students began to prepare for the extra-curricular life at WHS. First and third Thursday clubs were planned as well as painstaking rehearsals for theater productions and for Tophatters, our traditional stage band which this year celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary.

The first semester Student Council was elected and installed. Their list of accomplishments included widening a basement doorway, providing speakers for the student side at football games, and sponsoring a foreign child.

Starting with the fall sports, victory followed WHS athletes throughout the year. Our Lumberjack football team tied for first place in the conference with the impressive record of seven wins and two losses. The cross country team, also, turned in some fine times, displaying that additional effort so traditional with Senior High athletes.

Although fall was usually considered the natural end of activity for the students of WHS, it was the beginning of a new and exciting year.

School Activities

Fall brought days of rain to the WHS area, so that our water laden roof provided a resting place for weary travelers.

Muddy shoes and frozen valves in the band room gave evidence of early morning practices during the fall. But at Friday night football games the band marched out in fine formation showing those hours at Thom Field weren't in vain.

Pat Chrouser looked enviously at all the attention senior Rick Scott received from some junior girls on Wausau Eve.

After Classes

Outside of room 107 Mr. Lund, Mr. Thomas, Miss Hedblom, and Mr. Luttrell gathered to have lively discussions between math classes.

The Bellamy delegates to Pierre S. DuPont High School in Delaware were: Jacques Fulmer, Principal Taylor, Steve Lonsdorf, and Mrs. Scheurman Straining for extra yardage can mean the difference between winning and losing. Dan Braatz's determination netted him the necessary gain.

Cheerleaders lent pep and charm to assemblies and sports events. And for those who lost interest in the game

Our Fun Began

Holiday Spirits Relieved The Drudgery

Heavy sweaters, woolen skirts, and knee socks hanging in the girls' locker room were evidence of our cold weather.

Snow storms and sub zero temperatures induced quiet hours of study for Kris M. Jensen and Terry Kohnhorst.

"Deck the Halls with Boughs of Holly" rang throughout our halls with preparations for the coming holidays.

3:15 p.m. found Sue Foerster in this state of affairs—entangled in the inconveniences that winter and fashion demanded.

of Winter Routine

When fall turned to winter Lumberjack fans were eager to leave the football field and support their basketball team. Curling, swimming, skiing, and wrestling lent additional excitement to winter weeks.

Christmas vacation was anticipated with the usual festive spirit. During the two week holiday, junior girls sponsored a Discotheque to complete the seasonal mood. But all too soon vacation was over, and first semester final exams threatened. By the suggestion of the student council, teachers, and advisors, Wausau High adopted a new exam schedule. This enabled teachers to give a two hour test, after which teachers and students enjoyed a one day semester break.

Walking outside to get from one building to another between classes was an ordeal to be put up with, and students quickened their pace. In the cold months students were entertained by popular movies during the noon hour Monday through Thursday, while Friday was reserved for record hops in the gym. It was nice to be inside when the Wisconsin weather was piling snow outside causing studies to be a bit more acceptable.

Basketball reigned supreme during the winter season at WHS with our Jacks displaying an enviable record.

Varying our everyday routine, Harry John Brown and the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra presented a stirring assembly program.

It was Batman and Robin who aided our Lumberjacks in their victory over Eau Claire North.

Every Monday Tim Stoen posted the coming events for that particular week with Kathy Morris carefully watching for misspelled words.

Fresh Snow And Brisk Weather Brightened

It was the YWCA's Red Rail that provided a place for students to lose the tensions of a busy school day.

During our first American Field Service Day, Juan Murillo, our Spanish exchange student, welcomed other visitors representing Switzerland and Thailand

One sport many WHS boys looked forward to during the long winter months was curling at the barns in Marathon Park

The falling temperatures were cheered by some winter sport fans but for Brad Shannon it meant only car trouble

School Enthusiasm

Reynard the Fox, a contemporary social satire, proved to be a new experience for both the actors and the audience

A passerby could tell the spirit of spring had struck if he had seen Betsy Harper deep in reverie

The track team spent many after school hours running hurdles at Thom Field in preparation for inter school competition

As spring vacation terminated the third quarter, it also brought to a close the last winter months. Time after time, teachers were forced to call sleeping students back from their daydreams of the leisure summer soon to come. Studying, an unwelcome task at any time of the year, was especially trying on those warm, sunny days of April, May, and June

Juniors working diligently on the prom was a sure sign of spring. This year's theme was imaginatively portrayed with a "Taste of Honey." The cast of "Harvey", Mary Chase's popular comedy, rehearsed nightly in anticipation of its spring premiere. Music students were busy practicing for district and state solo-ensemble contests, concert and marching competition, and their annual spring concert. During March, the track team pounded through the halls after school to get in shape, while the baseball and tennis teams waited anxiously for the puddles from the last snow to disappear. When these finally did vanish in April, the track team raced out to Thom Field to start hurdling, pole-vaulting, sprinting, and working out in other field events. Tennis, baseball, and golf teams also made the most of the warm weather.

In the halls was heard the excited talk of graduation and plans for the summer and following year. At times those last days seemed to drag, but when June did come, the fourth quarter had slipped by so quickly that seniors only half realized that twelve years of school were ending. graduation was here, and a whole independent future lay ahead of them

Spring Sprung

Where now stands a high school unit, the girls of 1917 once celebrated May Day instead of a spring prom

Mr. G. W. Bannerman, Superintendent of Schools

G. W. Bannerman Retired After 43 Years

For twenty years the Wausau Area Schools have grown under the leadership of Mr. G. W. Bannerman, Superintendent of Schools who will retire August 1, 1966. "He is a man who is not only an outstanding educator, but one who has great foresight, who is an expert at public relations and who has leadership ability", commented the Wausau Daily Record-Herald, in a recent editorial voicing the feelings of the entire community. Besides being an unusually capable superintendent, he is a very warm, enthusiastic personality, noted for his spontaneous sense of humor.

He has been very close especially to Senior High where he was both teacher and principal. The faculty, administration, and student body of Wausau High extend their sincerest thanks for his years of dedicated service.

CLASSES

Whether a confused sophomore, an eager junior or a confident senior — each individual member of WHS added to the betterment of the whole through the pursuit of personal goals and group activities. Every student was also an enthusiastic part of his class. From the graduation of 110 students in 1917 to 648 in 1966, class spirit has always prevailed at WHS. Each class was a proud representative of its particular era in our school life.

Senior Class Officers

President Doug Johnson
Vice President Rick Scott
Secretary Judy Willing Advisor Jerry Madison

Facing their last year in high school many seniors began to seriously utilize and savor their last months at WHS.

Class officers selected three announcements from a group of many and the entire class saw and picked one. The officers also administered the selection of the senior gift.

The senior class of 1966 went on to college, jobs, and other phases of life after completing a three year period which encompassed the 1964 Bellamy award, the commendation of eleven students for their scores on the National Merit Test, championships in debate and athletics, and outstanding accomplishments in both academic and extra-curricular areas.

Many seniors will be grateful to Wausau Senior High School for the academic building, character shaping, and all-around worthwhile three years of living and learning at the school.

SENIOR HONORS

The Elk's Leadership Award, given to a Senior boy and girl on the basis of their outstanding leadership, resourcefulness, and citizenship, was this year awarded to Christine Beatty and David Ullrich. Paul Wollenzien was given the Elk's Most Valuable Student Award.

Leadership, patriotism, dependability, and service are the qualifications in mind for the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award, which was given to Jamie Brose.

The Freedom Foundation presented Christine Beatty with an award for her patriotism and outstanding achievement in the field of oratory. Christine was given this award in recognition of her State American Legion Oratorical Championship in 1965.

The National Council of English Teachers Award was presented to Julie Foerster, Julie Oldenburg, Jackie Miller and Ann Humphrey for their outstanding writing ability. Selected from a group of thirty nominees, these four seniors were allowed to enter statewide competition.

Mary Beilke, Wayne Wenzel, Tim Swanson, Julie Foerster, Paul Wollenzien, Ben Sternberg, Judy Jelen, Sue Cassels, and Janet Sparks received letters of commendation for their achievement in the National Merit Scholarship Test.

Students of Senior High were also given recognition in the field of driving. Safe-Teen Driving Awards were presented to Marcia Hussong and Kathy Gettino.

Back in 1954 the most serious problems facing these children were who would get the red fire truck or which color they would use for their next finger painting exercise. Today things have definitely changed just ask them. How many of your fellow classmates from the opposite page can you recognize in this distinguished graduation picture?

... 1966

The time was Thursday, October 14 and the night WAUSAU EVE as Pam Mathwick, Wendy Walterback, Kathy Gettino, Marcia Hussong and Mary Giese assisted Sharon Singstock (Miss Wisconsin) in teaching the audience to yell "Fight! Team! Fight!"

When the weather permitted it, Chuck Johanning, Mike Lang and Tom Butler could be found relaxing on the lawn discussing school

Bill Jensen and Kay Schultz employed a very exotic means in order to anticipate the answers for a test

The Gym requirement that boys wear a shirt forced Noel Meyer, Tom Davis, and John Babcock into creating a "T - for - 3".

Home Maker winner Julie Hitz instructed Carol Depper in the fine art of peeling potatoes while on "K P." duty.

Seniors Added Punch & pi-ZAZZ To W.H.S.

A typical day in the pi-zazz lab found Kama Kaz, Wang Scott industriously studying his Amyr Saxen.

You just said that Rebecka, Don Ruckow, Terry Allen and Bruce Giesch when they had entered the wrong room.

Junior Class Officers

As old friends the juniors returned happily to W.H.S. Their responsibilities were new and challenging. The first assignment was the privilege of selecting the ring for the class of '67. Next came the Junior Girls' Holiday Dance, and in May the Junior Prom. Various planning committees assisted the class officers in producing this memorable event.

Throughout the year the class was well represented in scholastic achievements, sports, and other outside activities.

Together they have worked and played and with much enthusiasm are now looking forward to returning next year as SENIORS.

Sophomore Class Officers

The school year 1965-66 has ended. It was a productive year for sophomores, juniors, and seniors alike. Though sophomores hated to admit it, those first few days were filled with questions, problems, and bewilderment. But after those hectic days, they came around in fine style.

This year's sophomore class left its mark in all areas of school activity. They were recognized participating in athletics, striving for good grades in the classroom, and

President Don Hagengruber
Vice-President Vic Richards
Secretary Janice Shannon
Advisor Mr. Yelich

shuffling around leaving marks on the dance floor.

During the year, sophomores received much good-natured ribbing from the upperclassmen and took it fairly well; they seemed to realize that their chance would come in future years.

During its first full year at Wausau Senior High, the class of 1968 strived to do as well as possible. And, from all appearances, this goal was accomplished.

STUDENT LIFE

Friends, fun, and food have always been a vital part of student life at Senior High. Extra curricular activities provide opportunities for the teen-age scholar to relax and express himself in plays, at dances, at games, or on cards and conversation. In 1966, as well as 50 years ago, students gathered at their favorite spots, such as The Red Rail, when the school-day had come to an end. By getting together out of class, students could share scholastic experiences and extend friendships.

The Only Word For Wausau Week - 1965

Jumping into Wausau Week with an energetic stag, Cathy Trembath pepped up school spirit at the Kick off Assembly Campaigning was ignited by the announcement of the queen candidates on Friday, October 8. The weekend preceding Wausau Week students concerned themselves with poster-making, tag-cutting, and car-painting for the girl they chose to support.

On Monday, the Wausau Week Committee acquainted students with the week's activities, and the candidates for queen were introduced. Songs, cheers, and a forecasted victory generated the Wausau Week spirit.

Tuesday noon, the campaigning ended with a parade around school. Honking horns, squealing tires, shouting, and a band on a truck added excitement. Candidates waved from convertibles on that brisk fall day. Voting took place the following morning in homerooms.

An incomparable Wausau Eve program entertained a gymnasium-full of students and alumni. Four junior girls began the program by showing their affection for Rick Scott while Master of Ceremonies Pat Chrouser looked on enviously. Several skits in which both students and teachers participated followed. Each skit contributed to the atmosphere of enthusiasm. Other highlights of the evening's festivities were the interview of four Green Bay Packers, a song and pep talk delivered by Miss Wisconsin, and numbers performed by the pep band. The culmination of a week's hard work and expectations was the coronation. Each queen candidate was introduced as she approached the throne platform. Tension mounted as the envelope revealing the queen's identity was opened — screams and applause welcomed the announcement that Jamie Brose was the 1965 Homecoming Queen. Jamie and her court reigned over Wausau Eve dance and Wausau Day activities.

The cheerleaders, having spent all day decorating Thom Field, returned to school to instill spirit for the big game. At the opening kick-off, red and white helium-filled balloons floated across the field. An excited crowd of Jack-backers wore booster buttons and waved pom-poms as Brock's boys pushed their way to another win. During half-time, the band played a fitting "Everything's Coming Up Roses" while the pep club performed a pom-pom routine. Students celebrated a 41-0 annihilation at the victory hop.

The humor of Mark Zech aroused the laughter of Packers Paul Hornung, Willie Davis, Bart Starr, Bob Skoronski, and fans on Wausau Eve. No doubt the expressions on their faces sobered after playing the Chicago Bears.

Was Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious

Faculty members posed their vocal abilities in presenting a medley of tunes with special Wausau Eve lyrics.

Senior Hillbillies sang out with confidence in their refrain that Wausau was "In the very best of hands."

Armed with a worthwhile cause the cross-country boys organized a protest match for the Wausau Eve program.

This gang demonstrated their school spirit in the catchy words "When you're a Jack, you're a Jack all the way."

Miss Wisconsin Honored WHS Royalty

Queen Jamie and her escort Bob Fink were presented to the crowd during the half-time celebration at Homecoming.

Miss Singstock placed the coveted crown upon radiant Queen Jamie Brose. The coronation by Miss Wisconsin climaxed the week's anticipation for the candidates.

Senior High Imported A Spanish Scholar

In a moment of reflection, Juan Carlos pondered a snowfall, a product of nature which he had never before observed

"America is different from what I had thought it would be. In Spain people talked and talked about America but sometimes they didn't know what they were talking about, so I had many wrong ideas about the U.S.A. and now I can understand a lot of things that before I couldn't. A lot of things are different from those in Spain, the teenagers, sometimes the point of view on world issues, the food and so forth . . . now I'm accustomed to all and I feel as though I'm in my own country.

I had many problems, especially with my English, but I had more fun than problems. I made good friends and it will be impossible to forget my year in the U.S. Many people have helped me, especially Mr. Reinemann. My English is getting better all the time, thanks to Miss Ross, who spent time after class day after day.

I lived in North Africa for fourteen years. There I spent all my childhood. After that time, I came back to Spain, where I've been living for 3 years, and now I'm here. I'm having quite a few experiences which will be very useful to me in the future. I want to be an architect, and the kind of construction that you have is quite a different style from ours. I enjoy art, also.

I will go back to Spain, but I can promise you that this year will not be the only year I will spend here. I'll come back and meet you again because all of you and Wausau have something that make them impossible for me to forget."

Senior's Presented "Reynard The Fox"

Drama Coach, Mrs. Ohland, was assisted by Miss Schadney and student director Marcia Kosmerchok in the production of a light satire, "Reynard The Fox"

Long after most students had deserted the halls of WHS, a small group of seniors worked diligently on perfecting lines and placements for Arthur Fruquez's "Reynard the Fox". Practices filled with disappointments and joys produced two top-rate performances of the play.

The central theme of "Reynard the Fox" was one of criticizing those who would judge others. The play also managed to subtly bring out the good and bad in every one. It posed questions and presented ideas about our modern society.

The characters were animals who possessed human personalities. The pompous and concerted lion, the loud-mouthed wolf, the blundering bear, the sleepy marmot, the bossy and proud crow, and the hypocritical hedgehog were constantly at odds with the clever fox. Although Reynard pulled many practical jokes on his colleagues, he was actually good-hearted. The audience responded favorably to the creativeness of the cast.

The set, designed by Juan Murillo, was a modern abstract design which lent itself to the imagery. A descriptive ballet introduced each scene.

"Reynard the Fox" was quite different from previous senior class productions. Its appeal to the imagination and intellect made it a successful senior undertaking.

Junior Girls Went Discotheque

Many girls contributed to the success of the Junior Girls Holiday Dance. The committee heads were Sandy Deutsch and Judy Seidel, Co-chairmen. Dona Schwichtenberg, decorations; Andrea Brandenburg, invitations; Nancy Westgate, finance; Barb Leffler, chaperones, and Emmy Shannon, publicity.

Dressed in formal attire, complete with flowers and elaborate hair-dos, girls and their escorts were welcomed with a swinging discotheque decor.

An industrious crew of feminine juniors provided the opportunity for 588 young ladies and gentlemen to display holiday finery and to meet friends after enjoying a week of vacation from classes.

Bright-colored crepe flowers greeted Senior High girls and their escorts when they arrived at the Wausau Club on a chilly December evening in 1965. Guests, many of whom had attended cocktail parties, deposited wraps and climbed the decorated staircase to enter the dance floor and became the captive audience for variations in popular music. The music of Sid Kyler and his orchestra furnished the dance tempo for an entire room of couples. The large blossoms and abstract figures on the wall created a discotheque atmosphere. To alleviate tired feet, many drifted into the adjacent rooms for punch and cookies. These refreshments were served by girls from Horace Mann Junior High.

With the extremely large attendance, this year's Winter Prom admirably fulfilled the goals of the girls responsible. That aim was to earn money to be used as a scholarship for a senior girl.

Good Grief ! How Styles Have Changed

Two young ladies of the class of 1917 displayed the vogue in dress, hair style, and mode of photography

Ann Humphrey and Chris Beatty, debaters of 1966, typified high school fashion with casual dress and two popular hair dos

What a difference fifty years make — especially in fads. The girls of 1917 gathered long hair in the back of the neck with an enormous bow. Long hair was once again the style in 1966. However, instead of being pulled away from the face, it hung straight. The girls of 1917 wore a shortened version of our granny dresses. Their dresses were long, but not floor length. We had gone to both extremes. Both floor length and above the knee lengths were quite acceptable

By 1966, the prom had replaced the maypole dance, a ride in a snow-mobile had taken over sleigh-riding, and the foxtrot had graduated to a conglomeration of the frug, jerk and watusi. Though fads and amusements change, the fun and friendship of student life remain

A wide spread fad compensated for short skirts. Different phases of the fad are illustrated above. Variations include matching skirt and boots, knee-high boots, Gaurage boots, and textured stockings. Is it possible to recognize the identity of the wearers?

Sixteen serious minded musicians topped the list of performers. The instrumentalists were J. Dorn, J. Eckerle, B. Maaser and J. Dzuby, cornet; G. Cassanova, B. McRath, P. Wellen, and H. Christanson, trombone; J. Williams, E. McEachron, D. Scheerer, K. Salzman, and K. Otto, sax; D. Johnson, bass; T. Evie, drums; T. Rounds, piano.

Tophatters' Stage Band Celebrated 25

The dry humored stunts of Bill Jensen vexed M.C. Steve Lonsdorf into giving him the opportunity to introduce two numbers.

Besides scheduling rehearsals, selecting music, and directing the group, band leader Howe Christanson, played a "swingin'" trombone.

Kathy Gettino and Kirby Carpenter added their vocal talent to Tophatters. Others singing were Ann Humphrey, soloist, and a mixed group.

Performing original modern dance interpretations, Linda Evers, Ken Salzman, and Leslie Swazee demonstrated the versatility of the 1966 Tophatters' program

Years Of Entertaining Performances

Twenty-five years ago, a group of some ten WHS students formed a dance band, and for the first time, Wausau High heard the sounds of jazz. Little did these founding fathers realize that their efforts would be carried on throughout the years and become a cherished tradition at WHS, but this is what the Tophatter organization has become, making it a real tribute to its some 190 members, a generation of Tophatters, since 1941.

The sixteen members of the 1966 Tophatters were fortunate enough by fate to be members of the 25th year group, and we felt it important to build our show around that theme. The variety and high quality of performance made our show a success. The highlight of the evening, a reunion stage band of some 40 Tophatters, proved to be a fitting climax to 25 years of talented student productions. We indeed had something to be proud of. Personally, I hope I'll still be around to cut "Serenade to a Zombie" at our Golden Anniversary Celebration in 1991.

Howe Chisler

A vibrating drumhead brought chills to hundreds as Tom Evjue pounded out the beats of "Serenade to a Zombie"

Fans Wildly Cheered Jacks In B. B. Tourne

This varsity locker displayed a good luck basketball to which Luanne Wylie adds her signature and wishes for a T-day victory

Sell out crowds expressed their excitement as they spurred the Lumberjacks on to their fifth WIAA tournament win

"Go! Fight! Win!" That popular chant encouraged Mr. Lumberjack in his tournament efforts. Players and basketball enthusiasts alike released excess energy in preparation for victory. With state tournaments as a goal, the Jacks coolly took it one game at a time until excitement reached its peak at Wausau Sectionals

March 1, 1966, marked the first milestone on the tournament trail with the defeat of Antigo. Wausau fans packed the gymnasium of host-schools at every game. Anticipation and good sportsmanship was displayed by players, cheerleaders, sign-bearers, and cushion-wavers throughout the tournament

Senior forward, Dave Utinch, dribbled down the court with drive and agility to "make another pair" for the Lumberjacks

A Pooka Named "Harvey" Visited W.H.S.

Mike Lange explained a word definition to "Mrs. Chumley" (Ann Humphrey) in a scene from the Spring Play "Harvey"

Mrs. Ohland and student director, Mary La Haie, constructively criticized Tom Johnson during one of the many important rehearsals.

"Hilarious" adequately describes Mary Chase's comedy. The story of a middle-aged citizen with an imaginary six-foot rabbit for a pal could hardly be anything else. The family of Elwood Dowd, particularly his sister, becomes concerned when embarrassed by his behavior. Psychiatrist Chumley is anxious to use his Formula 977 to bring Elwood back to the world of reality. After a confused situation at the hospital, the play is resolved.

Scenes of "Harvey" were set in the Dowd home library and Chumley's Rest Sanitarium. Set decoration was done by Juan Murillo.

Clever characterizations of Elwood (Tom Johnson), Veta Louise (Chris Beatty), Myrtle Mae (Turi Stolen), friends, and the hospital staff members were accomplished through hours of rehearsal time and capable direction.

Juniors Provided "A Taste Of Honey"

Students heading Prom preparations were Baum, Chrouser, Yunk, DeHaven, Trembath, Harper, Seidel, Schmidt, and Anderson. Missing when picture was taken — Schumann. Faculty advisors were Mr. Woods, Mr. Renemann, Miss Rennhak, Miss Cornwell, Mr. Lund, and Mr. Wandrey.

Some couples took a break to socialize on the side, while others danced to the music of the Larry Woodbury Orchestra.

On May 6, 1966 the annual Prom was held at the Marathon County Youth Building. Many Junior classmen and faculty advisors put in long hours to achieve the atmosphere of a "Taste of Honey". Secretive preparations caused student anticipation to run high.

Soft lights and delicate pastels greeted couples as they entered the transformed Youth Hall. A Maypole with streamers reaching across the ceiling stood in the center of the dance floor. Daisies, black-eyed susans, bees and butterflies dotted the walls. Refreshments were served from a giant beehive. All decorations were done in soft shades of green, blue, yellow, and pink. Larry Woodbury and his Orchestra provided the strains of music for dancing.

The evening was highlighted by the crowning of Queen Linda Schmidt, by her King, Dan Yunk. After the Coronation, the King and Queen led the Grand March.

Following the dance, all couples were invited to the Wausau Club for a post-prom party. A colored snapshot was taken as each couple arrived. After dinner, all were invited for more dancing in the Wausau Club ballroom. With the approaching wee hours, the Junior Prom festivities ended. Seniors and underclassmen alike left with many pleasant memories.

ACADEMICS

Teaching was more to the faculty of WHS than just training in an academic subject, rather it was the guiding of individuals to develop self-expression. A faculty of 112 offered subjects that appealed to all students from acting to integrated science. This was a considerable advancement from the 1917 staff of thirty-five and a more limited curriculum. As our school has grown, so also has the individual expanded his knowledge and understanding of our world.

It has been stated that three things are necessary to have a good high school. First, a school board composed of devoted, intelligent, understanding citizens who realize fully the distinction between policy making and administration; second, a first rate superintendent; and third, a good principal.

Wausau Senior High is fortunate to have all three. The Board of Education has worked many long hours on administration while Mr. Boettcher, Director of Secondary Education, has supervised school curriculum.

In his position as superintendent, Mr. Bannerman has contributed much to W.H.S.

Our principal, Mr. Taylor, with the assistance of Mr. Jacobson and Mr. Poulos, has put into effect those high standards set for us by all of these dedicated individuals.

Guidance Department Aided Students With

Mr. Swainby, head of the guidance department, rechecked seniors requirements for graduation.

Mrs. Eike and junior class counselor helped a concerned student plan her program.

Miss Scott, senior guidance counselor, spent many hours discussing student problems with concerned parents.

Charlotte Megrett, one of the many monitors, helped to lessen the work of the office secretaries and the attendance director.

Their Present Needs And Future Plans

Mr. Cox, our new attendance director, filled out tardy passes for those late students

The guidance department made the individual student's place in the world its main concern. Whether that world was in the classroom, on the athletic field, or in personal relations with friends, teachers, and family, students were engaged in this quest for identity.

Guidance services were designed to support the entire staff's effort towards this goal. Through counseling, the individual student was assisted to look realistically at his abilities, limitations, opportunities, and responsibilities, and to plan effectively and appropriately for his future.

In an attempt to assist all students, guidance services offered group programs which involved initial sophomore orientation, program planning, club activities, coordination, career days, college and aptitude tests, a work experience program and numerous other informational opportunities.

The attendance director's primary goal was to promote better attendance. His duties consisted of compiling absentee slips, admitting late students, and checking on those students not at school.

Thanks to the monitors Mr. Cox was given much help with his many necessary jobs.

Mr. Anderson helped Knute Alstad with his future plans.

Office Secretaries
Mrs. Seavers, Mrs. Tetzlaff, Mrs. LaCerte

Secretaries Kept Efficient Offices

The office secretaries performed a multitude of duties for everyone in our school. They kept detailed records of currently enrolled students and also of all the graduates. Transcripts of grades and information concerning activities and discipline were prepared and passed on to colleges, other schools, and employers. Answering the telephone, acting as complaint headquarters, running the lost and found department, and keeping the office out of complete pandemonium were just a few of the functions of Mrs. LaCerte, Mrs. Seavers, and Mrs. Tetzlaff.

Allowing the teachers more time for classroom preparation, the department secretaries assisted in the clerical work, typing tests, or mimeographing information sheets.

In this unusual stance Mr. Hyikema, head of the Agricultural Department, led the class in its discussion of dairy farming.

Preparing to lecture his American Problems class, Mr. Bennett worked on John Stuart Mill's "On Liberty."

Teachers Differed In Stance And Style

Mr. Johnson acquainted his class with some interesting issues pertaining to U. S. History which could not be found in their textbook.

Waiting for an answer to one of his thought provoking questions, Mr. Madison looked over his class.

'The square of the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the squares of the other two sides' recalled Car Stahmer and Dave Dolloff as they tried to do a much more difficult math problem

'Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country,' was this year's most repeated sentence

A Varied Curriculum

Everyone had to take a morning break including Senior High's youngest students who were caught relaxing with cartons of milk.

Students found the language laboratory very confusing but also very helpful

Broadened Views

Mr. Thomas, with text in hand, takes a few minutes of class time to relate his version of the "Kabosh Maker,"

Chemistry students learned to expect the unbelievable when two "harmless" chemicals combined.

ACTIVITIES

In an effort to provide extra emphasis on individual talent, clubs and extra-curricular activities supplemented studies. Each club meeting, music rehearsal, publication period, or discussion seminar was an opportunity for students to work together to develop their similar interests. Though the poultry club of 1917 has given way to a projectionists club, the thought remained the same — to educate the complete student according to his individual ambitions.

From 1917 To 1966 THE WAHISCAN

Assistant editors, Turl Stolen and Larry Hannemann, pondered over the spelling of a word before advising their editor

Julie Foerster, the editor in chief, explained the margin measurements to her inexperienced staff at the beginning of the year

Fifty years ago the first WAHISCAN staff produced its first annual—104 pages of memories from the school year 1916-1917. That staff encountered many difficulties deciding what should go into a yearbook, taking pictures, laying out pages, writing copy, and composing headlines. They were rewarded by setting a standard for fifty years to come. Although the WAHISCAN has changed a great deal since the 1917 book, the 1966 yearbook staff found itself confronted with many of the same problems and frustrations. However, editor-in-chief Julie Foerster, advisor Mr. Rosenhauer, and the two assistants were quickly able to share their knowledge with the rest of the staff. Every seventh period at least one aspiring journalist could be found sifting through the WAHISCANS of the past to make the 1966 yearbook representative of fifty years. They were all determined that their golden anniversary annual—228 pages of memories from the school year 1965-1966—would be unequalled in school history.

The WAHISCAN business staff headed by Mr. Dzubay, was concerned with selling space for advertisements and assembling the materials for the ad section. Prodded by their manager, Alison Treibel, the advertisement solicitors succeeded in selling more pictorial ads this year than ever before. The business staff also made some changes in the lay-out of their section. In spite of all these headaches, the staff contributed much to the production of the 1966 WAHISCAN.

Financing a school yearbook was a demanding yet rewarding task for Business Manager Alison Treibel and advisor Mr. Dzubay.

In an impressive ceremony, the first Student Council was installed in 1925 as an active organization of our school. At this installation service the eight members of the council took the oath of allegiance to the school and country. A hope was expressed that "this experiment in student government will develop successfully and will give to Wausau High School a name known throughout the state as one which governs itself well enough to be an excellent example to other schools."

The Student Council has lived up to this hope. In its 42nd year, the council now has 75 members who work together to make a more efficient school. Under the leadership of hard-working officers and commissioners, the Student Council has often proposed measures that have become standard school procedure.

Upon recommendations of the Student Council, speakers were installed on the student side at Thom Field, the south-west staircase was widened, a book return was installed in the cafeteria area, and the annual candy sale was revised to make it more convenient for both student and customer. Early this year a clothing drive was conducted to help the 200 victims of Hurricane Betsy. The Student Council was friend and parent to Hoh Wing Sang, a ten year old Korean boy who was adopted by the council. Such service projects were a vital part of the activities of the Student Council.

The Band officers, Howie Christensen, Barb Klos, Eric Wendorff, and Karen Hahn, accompany their advisor, Mr. Evenstad.

"We're all one big happy family," said a band member when asked about his organization. They are together in music, fun, and much hard work.

The band at Wausau Senior High has three major roles: that of Concert Band, Marching Band, and Pep Band. It presented three concerts this year, played at all football and basketball games, and marched in several community parades. Earning a fine reputation for itself at state music festivals, the band was awarded 'A' ratings in each of the three contests in which it participated: marching, performance of prepared selections, and sight reading. The band repertoire included selections ranging from Broadway and Sousa to Shostakovich and Wagner.

Any night after school one could find the band room filled with young musicians diligently practicing for the many individual activities in which they took part. They took lessons from Mr. Evenstad, and prepared solos and ensembles for competition. In addition, a student directing course was offered, and those who wished to be were featured in a special student director's concert. Besides work at school, many band members aided the community by playing for special programs and church services.

Majorettes were an extension of the marching band. Their colorful uniforms and unique routines added style to football and basketball games. Majorettes were often featured at half-times accompanied by strains of "Hello, Dolly" and "Riff Interlude."

The WHS Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. David Riege, helped to enrich the cultural life of the students and the entire community through its entertaining concerts. The first in a series of many concerts began with the Parent Concert in October. The orchestra also performed at the annual Christmas Concert with the band and choir. A "first" was established this year when the orchestra played a Children's Concert at the Rib Mountain Grade School. The series was terminated with the commencement concert and the "Pop-Concert-on-the-Lawn". The orchestra did well not only as a group, but also in various solos and ensembles performed at the district and state levels.

Enjoyment To Develop Music Appreciation

Members of the Wausau High School Concert Choir were selected by vocal try-outs in order to obtain the best possible balance of voices. The Choir this year presented three Christmas concerts, assembly programs for both junior high schools, a program for the Gold Star Women's Convention, and a Spring Concert. They also participated in an invitational Choral Clinic and the Spring Music Festival. Mr. Lowell Larsen was the director.

The Glee Club was for students who liked to sing in a group. Practicing every day during the seventh period, the group developed a fine repertoire, including an operetta musical comedies, religious, and contemporary songs. Music appreciation and taste discrimination were stressed. Vocal training and conducting experience were other endeavors which proved to be valuable.

Some prominent participants in the LYCEUM discussions were Eric Wunnenburg, Sally Day, Ed McEachron, Karen Bloomquist, Kay Schuitz, Phyllis Knudson, Mary Hotz, Laura Lowry, Andrea Lister and (standing) Advisor Mr. Bennett and Tim Swanson.

An informal discussion group, the Lyceum, or philosophers' club, looked into some of the problems facing America and the world today. Topics of universal interest, including censorship, civil rights, interfaith marriage, and student protest marches were aired in a friendly, if often emotionally charged, atmosphere. Advisors of the group were Mr. Stade and Mr. Bennett.

The International Club attempted to gain a better understanding of the world we live in through a study of the politics, people, and geography of other nations. This was achieved through student speakers such as Sally Day and Rick Scott who spoke on Red China, and Juan Murillo, who told of his country, Spain.

Admission was based on academic standing superior achievement on a school publication, recommendation by the local advisor, and approval of the Society's Executive Secretary. All members received an honorary pin, and the national magazine, Quill and Scroll.

One of the greatest distinctions that could be awarded to a senior was membership in the National Honor Society, which gave recognition to students who had maintained a 3.25 grade average and had shown leadership and character. On May 1, 1966, a special installation program and reception climaxed the work and achievement of each honor student.

Honorary Youth Achievement Organizations

Each month four different WHS boys attended the weekly Rotary Club meetings where they were given a look at what the Rotary Club does for Wausau. Fellowship and service, two ideals stressed by Rotarians, are presented by noon hour speakers. This year, some of the topics were ski jumping, international trade, library expansion, and Brotherhood Week.

Seven WHS students know what it felt like to be a candidate running for public office. These students attended Badger Boys' or Badger Girls' State where they spent a hectic week attending lectures, party caucuses, and political forums, and vigorously campaigning for office. Thus they were given a personal view of our state government.

Resolved: That the federal government adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in the basic industries. This was the question that the Senior High debators argued. Winning over 90% of their debates, they also placed second in the state tournament. Earlier in the season "firsts" were captured in the B division at the Wisconsin Valley Invitational and at the Rhinelander Invitational. In the A division the debators took first place and four individual honors at Ripon, and third place at the St. Olaf Tournament in Minnesota. There will be no lack of strength in next year's squad for a large number of sophomores again participated in the tryouts.

Forensics offered those students who had a flair for speaking an opportunity to express themselves before a critical audience. Forensics, from the Latin word forum pertains to public speaking and takes the forms of original and non-original oratory, memorized declamation, play-reading, interpretive reading of prose and poetry, four minute and extemporaneous speaking, and public address. The first competition was the home contest here in Wausau. The two top contestants from each group were selected to go on to the valley, the district, and finally the state meet. Wausau's team did a commendable job this year, and sent fourteen students to the state contest in Madison.

On the first Thursday of each month one could find Le Circle Francais listening to the music of Piaf, and Yves Montand, singing "Frere Jaques", "Dominique" and "Dites-moi Pourquoi", or playing charades and guessing games in French. When the club was not occupied with French culture, it was planning activities to add l'argent to its treasury. One of the club's outstanding activities was the Valentine dance which it sponsored on February 11. The gym and cafeteria areas were effectively transformed into a soft, romantic setting appropriate for the occasion. Hearts and cupids adorned the gym, and those attending received Valentine greetings in French. The money received went to the scholarship fund, and to buy new records for the club's collection.

El Club de Espanol spent its time entertaining Juan Murillo and other foreign exchange students from local schools. Officers were: President, Jim Perry; Vice-President, Mary Holtz; and Secretary-treasurer, Nancy Westgate, supervised the plans for a banquet held in the spring with a Spanish record hop as the theme. Members of the club listened to the popular Spanish guitar music, wore Spanish costumes, and ate native dishes such as paella, ensalada, and gazpacho. Another highlight of the year was the Christmas party at which Spanish customs were practiced. Refreshments were served and a pinata was broken.

De Discipuli Antiquorum Junior Classical League, better known as the Latin Club, was an active WHS organization. Designed to promote the classical cause, the Latin Club encouraged interest and appreciation of the civilization language, literature, and art of ancient Greece and Rome. Members of the club achieved these goals through attendance at the State Latin Expositions and Junior Classical League Convention. A Latin Banquet was held, where classical food was served, classical clothing worn, and a classical theme carried out.

The activities of Der Deutsche Verein this year were many and varied. Such projects as a Christmas party and German festival increased appreciation of the language and culture of Germany by familiarizing students with its customs and music. At these events young German enthusiasts danced polkas to the music of the "Bavarian Boys", a group of German Club musicians. A highlight of the club year was a basketball hop sponsored on February 18. Again the "Bavarian Boys" appeared, and a polka contest took place. Students crowded the bleachers and formed a circle around the few brave who ventured an attempt at this different type of activity.

Tom Beese, Karen Bloomquist, and Howie Christensen, the German Club officers, industriously worked in the language laboratory in preparation for the next meeting.

Skyrocket Staff Blasted Off To Gather

EDITORIAL STAFF

Adhering to the suggestions of their advisor Mrs. Scheurman were the head editors: Moseman, Day, Johnson, and Humphrey Producing a school newspaper every two weeks requires a large staff. At the head of the SKYROCKET staff were Mrs. Scheurman and her four editors: Doug Johnson, Linda Moseman, Sally Day, and Ann Humphrey. In addition to making assignments for reporters, and writing editorials, these people took care of all last-minute details, checking layouts, and adding fillers for blank spaces.

Ten assistant editors made this task somewhat easier. In charge of keeping a notebook of ideas for future issues was news editor, Janet Sparks. Feature stories were written by Ken Maaske and Bill Jensen, while Dorothy Diebel and Dennis Bentz wrote sports stories, and Karen Bloomquist produced the musical news. A bit of humor was added by Bill Jensen's original and often satirical cartoons. The job of the copy editors, Linda Larson and Janice Shovers, was to proofread the copy and check for mechanical and grammatical errors. After the paper was finished, Luanne Wylie saw to it that every student in school received a copy. The SKYROCKET exchanged with one hundred other schools. Kathy Grosinske, as exchange editor, sent each of these schools every SKYROCKET.

Editors, however, cannot do the job alone. A staff of fifty reporters helped considerably to lessen the load, by interviewing key people and writing news stories.

A publication such as the SKYROCKET needs funds with which to work. Seven girls on the SKYROCKET business staff encouraged local businessmen to supply these funds through their advertising in the SKYROCKET.

The Future Secretaries Club Officers practiced their talents in the main office. They were Radant, Tapper, and Kittel.

The Future Nurses Club provided service to the school and community while they learned about their future occupation by doing volunteer work at local hospitals, serving as monitors in the school nurse's office, and raising money for the scholarship fund. A particularly active club, the Wausau Future Nurses were awarded the 1965 Youth Group Achievements Award from Parents magazine.

Active participation gave FBLA members valuable insight into the world of business. The year's big event took place on March 26, when the club managed Johnson Hill's department store for the day. Advertising, taking over each department, and balancing accounts gave them vital experience, and allowed them to become acquainted with business on a larger scale.

Members of the Future Secretaries club learned that it takes more than just mechanical skills to be a successful secretary when they toured the Employers Mutual firm and observed those who hold secretarial positions. Using their acquired knowledge and skills, they earned scholarship money for a senior girl planning to major in secretarial work.

"A New Look at the FTA" was taken by delegates to the state Future Teachers of America convention. This event concluded a year of rewarding investigation into the field of education. "Two Million Heroes," a radio play, was prepared and presented on the Jaycee Underline program. Regular meetings were given added interest by speakers such as Mr. Leffin of John Muir Junior High School.

From a 1918 Poultry Club has evolved the Wausau chapter of the Future Farmers of America. An industrious club, the FFA sponsored several money-making projects including a football hop and seed and cheese sales. Members of the club cut and hand wrapped each pound of cheese to be sold. Proceeds took the Future Farmers to Minneapolis in spring.

FTA President Nancy Schiltz exerted her authority over the other club officers: Judy Sedel, Patti Hayes, and Janene Degner.

They Developed In WHS Organizations

Advisor Mr. Hylkema posed with the officers of the Future Farmers of America in front of their numerous recognition plaques. They were Eugene Heckendorf, Mike De Broux, Gary Zormoski, Dan Mueller, and Rudolph Kluz.

Medding in the supply room were the Chemistry Club Officers: Jensen, President; Geger, Vice President; and Doloff, Treasurer. (Missing: Foerster, Secretary)

Mu Alpha Theta was the official title of the Advanced Math Club, whose purpose was to acquaint the students with the "new" trends in math, as well as the "old" classical problems. This year's club participated in the Math Talent Search conducted by the University of Wisconsin, did preliminary work toward the founding of a National High School Math Club, and conducted the November 26 basketball hop to raise money for math scholarships.

Another organization interested in math and money was the Chemistry Club, which used math in experiments and raised money by sponsoring its annual caramel apple sale on December 16. The club also had interesting speakers. These included Bill Jensen, who spoke on the uses of chemistry in criminology, and Mr. Thiel, who showed slides of the Antarctic.

"To widen our knowledge of books" was the purpose of the Book Club and Senior Seminar. The Book Club, open to all students, read and discussed The Idiot by Dostoevsky, and learned of other influential books, such as Catcher in the Rye, by means of panel discussions. The club also sponsored a Book Fair, in which paperbacks were displayed and sold to students. Members of the Senior Seminar read one book each month, and then met for discussion. This year the club studied T. S. Eliot's The Wasteland, Long Day's Journey into Night, by Eugene O'Neill, A Farewell to Arms by Ernest Hemingway, Albert Camu's The Stranger, and Fyodor Dostoevsky's Crime and Punishment. Speakers included Senior High teachers, Miss Ross and Mrs. Hedges, and a former Wausau teacher, Miss Stelmahoske.

Chemistry Club + Math Club – A Challenge

Advanced Math Club Officers would not let the complexities of the slide rule overcome them, despite its size or their abilities. They were Jeff Snook, Reporter; Gerry Matzisen, Vice President; Geoff Cantled, Secretary-Treasurer; and B. Hoessel, President.

Actors And Artists Promoted Culture

The officers of the Art Club were Mike Rolnecki, Bobbi Holup, Joan Porath, Dick Rasmussen, and Mike Wadinski

Aspiring young thespians explored the fascinating world of theater in the Drama Club. Students from the University of Wisconsin Extension Center presented several Canterbury tales and taught theater games. Laura Lowry and Judy Jelen entertained the club with a cutting from "The Importance of Being Ernest." Several dramatic performances, such as Tennessee William's The Glass Menagerie were viewed by the group.

Stimulating discussions challenged members of the Art Club. Based on trips to the University of Wisconsin Center to view the art exhibits and on the works of current artists, these seminars taught them much about good art techniques. Special interest was aroused by Billy Moy's exhibit of the Chinese art which he inherited from his father.

"Modern Misses" practiced the art of femininity in various ways. Culinary talent was put to use at a bake sale in the school cafeteria, and speakers gave tips on other topics. Mrs. Matthews, the club advisor, suggested unique gift wrapping methods, and Mrs. Rosen, from the "Knitting Nook" displayed various types of yarn and articles made from them.

Through a central interest in the Federal Poverty Program, Y-Teens tried to understand some of the problems facing American society today. Money was raised enabling the club to adopt a little Indian child from one of the poverty stricken areas of the country. The chief source of revenue was a bake sale in the school cafeteria.

All - Girl Groups Received Feminine Advice

The officers of the Modern Miss Club discovered that homework involved not only pencils and books but pots and pans, too. They were Sue Radant, Julie Hitz, Diane Wolfe, Jill Jackson, Mary Camps, and Chris Jones.

Sports Enthusiasts Cheered And Competed

Although the G.A.A. officers directed girls' intramural competition, they also had a few contests of their own. President Jackie Miller judged as Esther Anderson and Sue Shepherd pulled Karen Hahn and Carol Hahn over the line.

Were our pep rallies comparable to those of Hitler? This confidential shot of Pep Club Officers Cunningham, Brose, Semerau, and Morris might reveal the answer.

Girls Sports at WHS were conducted entirely under the leadership of the Girls' Athletic Association, the largest organization in school with 475 members. Activities covered a wide range of interests, providing competition in both individual and team sports. These included bowling, swimming, volleyball, badminton, curling, table tennis, softball, golf, archery, basketball, horseback riding, and tennis.

Encouraging a spirited student body was the purpose of the Pep Club. This was accomplished with a special pom-pom section and a balloon sale on Homecoming night. At the first kick-off, the air was filled with multi-colored balloons. The club also sponsored a Parents' Night, and presented a Wausau Eve skit.

Wausau High Curlers won the 1965-66 sectional meet and placed fourth in state competition. This concluded a year of popular participation in the sport. Instruction was given to new curlers, and movies on the Canadian National Championship, the Briar Cup, were viewed. The club elected Robby Brodhead Curler of the Year to receive the Allan Wirt Memorial Award.

Movies of the Wausau Ski team and various ski events, style shows displaying the latest ski fashions and equipment, and a talk by Mr. Oliva on new additions to the Rib Mountain Ski area provided the Ski Club with entertaining programs. In addition, the club took week-end ski trips to Telemark and Powderhorn Mountains.

Stu Rosemurgy shifted into reverse as he prepared to back out on his way to the curling barns. With him were Dan LaCerte and Jack Boss, the other officers of the Curling Club.

Frigid Weather Furnished Fun For Sportsmen

Though Wisconsin's winters are cold, they do not always produce enough snow to satisfy skiers. Ski Club Officers Pam Mathwick, Joe Osterlander, and Debby Serranz proved this point as they measured Wausau's accumulation. (Missing Terry Allen)

"Stargazing" is defined by some as absentmindedness, but Mr. Harkness and the members of the Astronomy Club saw it differently. Every Thursday night they had an opportunity to gaze at the heavens. A highlight of the year was a trip to Yerkes Observatory in Williams Bay, Wisconsin to explore professional astronomy and to examine interesting equipment.

Research laboratory techniques and nature study were some of the topics explored by this year's Biology Club. The club acquired knowledge in these areas through active participation in field trips to the school forest and laboratory work on such things as bacteria slides.

The big event for WHS Junior Dairymen this year was hosting the state convention and dairy show. All boys in this state organization owned and cared for their own cows, and exhibited them in competition. Through such experience, they learned about important aspects of dairy farming methods, kinds of feed, and new models of milking machines.

Members of the Conservation Club could often be found at the school forest. There they were involved in a variety of tasks such as thinning and pruning pine plantations, cutting Christmas trees and boughs, and planting shrubs and bushes. Aiding in the construction of buildings and making improvements on the Club House were other projects of the year.

It was the night of the big performance. Auditorium lights dimmed, stage lights flickered, and the performance began. Behind the scene was the Stage Crew seeing that every technical aspect of the program went well. The Stage Crew became efficient in co-ordinating lighting, sound effects, and scene changes as they served at school plays, Christmas programs, Stunt night, and Wau sau Day.

Every time a teacher wanted to show a classroom movie, members of the Projectionist Club were on hand to help. The purpose of this club was to learn the details of operation of audio-visual equipment, and with these talents to offer service to the school.

The Electronics Club gave students a chance to learn more about the subject by observing actual firms working with electronics. Touring local industries, such as WSAU TV and Radio, WAOW TV, and Marathon Electric Manufacturing Corporation, gave students this opportunity.

None of the familiar cries of, "Oh, no! Home movies!" will ever be heard in the homes of Camera Club alumni. For the members of the Camera Club this year concentrated on improving home photography. Movies pointing out common faults and errors, and instruction books showing correct methods, provided discussion topics for meetings. Field trips to a local camera shop and to a television station added contrast to the program.

For the price of $1.50, students could purchase their weekly lunch tickets from the ever-smiling Mrs. Camps

A familiar sight to many at Senior High was Mr. Camps selling cafeteria tickets to hungry students on Monday and Friday noons. As cafeteria secretary, Mr. Camps took care of the many details that kept the lunch program functioning efficiently. In addition to selling tickets, she made statements and reports for the school board, checked the cafeteria's bills for accuracy, kept records of extra milk sold, and took charge of the cafeteria count.

Each day during the third and fourth periods, enticing odors of hot food wafted from the direction of the cafeteria to distract students from their classwork. This resulted from the efforts of six cafeteria ladies who came every day at 7:15 A.M. to prepare food for an average of 675 students. These ladies were aided by twenty-four students who washed and put away the dishes, took tickets, and helped to serve.

"It's a full-time job," Mr. Franklin E. Helke, superintendent of building and grounds, said of the work done by the school custodians. The job done by Senior High's nine men and seven women custodians is a big one. These people work every day during the school term at routine cleaning. During Christmas and Spring vacations, they do more thorough cleaning, scrubbing and waxing floors and washing furniture. In addition, the staff spends the entire summer repairing worn equipment, replacing broken windows, sanding desk tops, and preparing the building for the following term.

SPORTS

Teamwork was emphasized by athletic directors throughout the school year. By working as a team, in basketball, football, curling, or skiing the boys are given a chance to develop individual skills and to learn the art of sportsmanship. For well over 50 years, Senior High has had an excellent reputation in sports. The 1966 athletes again provided a challenge for all the teams and were able to retain the high standing of Lumber-jacks.

With A Record Of 7 Victories, 2 Defeats

The student managers were: Kumerow, Beilke, and Clark.

The Wausau Lumberjacks won a championship trophy for the 24th year out of the 29 Brock has coached at WHS. Wausau's gridsters share the Big Rivers Conference Championship with Eau Claire Memorial, the fourth ranked team in the state.

The highlight of the season was the Eau Claire Memorial game which was a must for Wausau, having lost their first game to Marinette the week before. The Jacks handed a fine Memorial team, led by all conference quarterback Phil Hagen, its only loss of the season.

Brock faced the problem of replacing 23 seniors from his '64 team, and in the longstanding tradition of Wausau football teams, new and untried boys came up and compiled an admirable record.

Wausau scored 227 points to their opponents 59 points and had three players named to the all conference team. Senior halfback Mark Staples, the conference's leading scorer and rusher, and center Jim Oblander, were unanimous all conference choices while halfback Terry Weinberger missed being a unanimous choice by one vote.

The Wausau record is now 195 victories, 27 losses, and 7 ties covering the 29 years Coach Brockmeyer has been at Wausau.

Jerry Quaderer, with the help of Tom Beese, stops a LaCrosse Central runner the hard way as Duane Neubauer and Gary Seehafer come up to help. All out effort like this by the defense held opponents scoreless in the last five games of the season.

The 1965 Wausau B-Team football squad compiled a record of four wins, one loss, and one tie. The WHS Junior Varsity, composed solely of sophomores, scored a total of 147 points during the season and held their opponents to 62 points.

In the first game, Wausau was victorious over Rhinelander 20 to 0, in the second they defeated Edgar's varsity 27 to 0, and in the third game Wausau was defeated by Eau Claire Memorial 42 to 6. After the defeat by Memorial, Wausau was then tied by Wisconsin Rapids 13 to 13. Wausau won the next two games dropping Marinette 19 to 7 and winning handily over Eau Claire North with a score of 52 to 0.

These sophomores, with a fine record of achievement, will be counted upon to carry on with football excellence as has been the WHS tradition.

The 1965 Cross Country team, coached by Bill Smiley, had the bad luck of running into the Wisconsin State Champion Cross Country team of Antigo in seven out of their eight meets, and thus, ended up with a season record of one win and seven losses.

Wausau, however, had a successful season as far as defeating teams went, as they defeated 22 teams and lost to 16.

The '65 squad was one of the hardest working groups Coach Smiley has ever had at Wausau and also one of his most balanced teams. This team was led by seniors and co-captains Tom Tranetzki and Dave Ullrich with seniors Brad Shannon, Steve Lonsdorf, Russ Hollman, Terry Ahrens and juniors Bernie Schmidt and Eric Wendorff scoring well.

The '65 B squad, led by seniors Dick Grasmick, Guy Reynolds, Robby Brodhead, Dave Lonsdorf, and Jeff Snook, completed an excellent season defeating 19 teams while losing to only four.

Both this year's varsity and B-team were composed of mostly seniors as Coach Smiley had seven returning lettermen. Next year's team will be built around returning lettermen Eric Wendorff and Bernie Schmidt, plus a group of fairly promising juniors who showed possible potential in the 2.2 mile races this year.

Smiles Completed His 14th Season As Coach

The runners soon spread out after this start of the B team race during the Wausau Invitational. Wausau's J V 's added to their fine record during this race by taking first place in the meet, defeating teams from seven schools.

Junior Varsity

The basketball squad had another successful season as they placed second in the BRC and made it all the way to the Sectional finals of the state tournament before they were defeated by a fine Wisconsin Rapids team. The Jacks were 8-4 in conference play and finished the season 16-8.

Their strongest points were excellent teamwork and defense as well as fine shooting and rebounding. The team's only handicap was a lack of quickness and speed which their teamwork overcame. Coach Anderson's squad held their opponents to an average of 60 points a game while scoring 68 points themselves.

The Jacks were led by Jack Erdman, who was picked for the All Conference Squad and the Channel 7 All-Stars. Jack led the team in both scoring and rebounding. Jim Treu was named to the BRC second team. Captain Dave Ullrich, Terry Ahrens and Ken Roeder all hit well over 200 points to give the team balanced scoring. Sheldon Geiger and Mike Semrau also saw a lot of action and played fine ball for the team.

The only returning letterman is Ken Roeder, but there were many promising players on the J. V. squad to fill in for the departing seniors.

Senior forward Shelly Geiger drove past his defender and made a short jump shot against Central.

Ended Season With A 15-3 Record

The Junior Varsity completed a successful season with a 15-3 record for the year. The JV's clearly showed their scoring ability by averaging 70.1 points per game compared to their opponents average of 49.4 points. The best games of the season were played against Eau Claire Memorial and Wisconsin Rapids with scores of 74-57 and 71-56 respectively.

High scorers included Steve Anderson, Todd Carver and Larry Edwards scoring 14, 12.8 and 12 points per game respectively. Added strength came with leading rebounders Chris Evans and Steve Anderson.

As a team, the JV's made effective use of both the press and the fast break. Coach Dix received help from sophomores John Luebke, Tom Larson, Frank Schade, and Dennis Treptow this year, and was able to build a team which he said was well balanced and one on which the boys played well together.

Coach Anderson mapped out mid game strategy with Captain Dave Ullrich as Shelly Geiger and Jack Erdman listened in.

Sophomores Completed Season Undefeated

The 1965-66 season was the first time that Wausau has had a full sophomore schedule, and it proved to be a very successful one as the sophomores were undefeated in the 13 games they played.

As a team, they outscored their opponents 74 to 44. In their first game against Eau Claire North, they scored 103 points playing only six minute quarters. Coaches Ihde and Langbehn also got many outstanding individual performances from their boys. Frank Schade and Jerry Winters were the team's leading scorers averaging 14 and 13 points per game. Schade was also the assist leader for the season while in the rebound department Jerry Winters took honors.

The two toughest and closest games of the season came against Wisconsin Rapids who were beaten by 8 and 11 points while all the other victories were by much greater margins.

Coach Anderson can expect fine performances from these boys in the next two years, and we hope they keep up their winning ways.

Frank Schade, leading sophomore scorer, attempted a jump shot in a game with the Eau Claire Abes. The game ended with a victory for Wausau.

WHS Wrestlers Showed Great Improvement

The 1965-66 wrestling season was a definite step towards Wausau's goal of excellence in athletics. Improvement was made in every phase of competition. A conference record of three wins, one loss and one tie was established. In the conference tournament, Wausau placed third as compared to seventh the year before.

Seniors who finished their careers were Gary Grenier and Gene Bousley, both with winning records. Clarence Felch, Jim Loos, and Bob Quaderer won Conference championships in their weight classes, and will return next year. Tim Bartelt won a Regional Title at D.C. Everest, while Clarence Felch paced the team with a 22 win-3 loss record. Clarence won the sectional championship at Owen Withee and represented Wausau at the state tournament in Madison.

Tim Bartelt proved successful in his attempt to pin his opponent. The pin added winning points for the WHS wrestlers.

At a match early in the season, Tom Beese lunged at his opponent with the WHS determination to win.

Wausau High School Curlers had a successful 1965-1966 season. In inter-scholastic competition, our curlers had a 22 win, 6 loss record. The high-lights of the season were the Wausau Invitational Bonspiel, and the Madison Invitational Bonspiel championships. Wausau also won co-championship honors in the Mid-Wisconsin Curling League. The four boys winning these honors were: Steve Lonsdorf, Skip; Stuart Rosemurgy, 3rd; Dan LaCerte, 2nd; Robbie Brodhead, Lead.

This foursome also won the sectional playdowns to qualify for the state meet where they placed 4th. Many coaches in the state feel that these fellows were the best high school curlers that they have seen play.

In intramural round-robin play, the Steve Lonsdorf rink won the championship. Members of his team were Dave Lonsdorf, third; Dick Donnor, second; Mike Myers, lead. Fifty-two boys took part in round-robin competition with thirteen teams playing for first place.

Wausau Swimmers Set Six School Records

Although the WHS swim team had a 3-6 record in dual meet competition, there were many good individual performances by the boys. Wayne Becker, Paul Csencics, Howie Lewis, and Joe Paulson broke the school 200 yd. medley relay record and Rick Scott, Chris Goralske, Joe Paulson and Howie Lewis set a record in the 400 yd. freestyle. Co-captains Lewis and Scott accounted for the 4 other records. Lewis swam the 100 yd. butterfly in 1:08 and Scott set records in the 50 yd. freestyle, 100 yd. freestyle and 200 yd. freestyle

Tom Beattie, in his first year as swim coach, built the foundation for a good future team, as the only senior on the team was Rick Scott. WHS can look forward to many fine performances from underclassmen who gained valuable experience in varsity competition this year

Junior Joel Duncanson showed good form during a varsity meet against Rhinelander. All WHS home meets were held at John Muir pool

Coach Tom Beattie timed a race during practice session. This was Coach Beattie's first year as swimming coach at Wausau.

KNEELING: Everest, Ostrander, Reynolds, Wergin, Flannery, Meyers

W.H.S. Skiers Were Big Rivers Champions

Senior Joe Ostrander prepared for an upcoming ski meet during one of the practice sessions held early in the season

The Wausau High ski team completed another successful season as they placed second in the St. Croix Falls meet, second in the WIAA Invitational held at Rib Mountain, and then went on to win the WIAA Big Rivers Championship at LaCrosse. The Jacks then placed ninth in the state meet at Trollhaugen in a field of twenty schools.

Practice began long before the first snowfall as the boys played soccer, ran cross country, and did various exercises to get in shape. Although the team was hampered by lack of snow during parts of the season, practices were held after school every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

The varsity racing team was composed of seniors Paul Wergin, Guy Reynolds, Robin Flannery, Joe Ostrander, and sophomores Clark Everest and Mike Meyers. Wergin and Reynolds were also the only two returning lettermen from last year's team.

Pete Eldredge, Clark Everest, David Johnston, Joe Ostrander, Guy Reynolds, and Paul Wergin qualified in the Junior Sub-Regional meet held at Rib Mountain for the USSA Junior Regional meet held at Mount LaCrosse.

West Relays Highlighted Indoor Season

Track Team Faced A Tough Schedule

Coach Smiley's tracksters started out the year slowly with a mediocre indoor record but improved steadily as the outdoor season progressed. The team was a very young one composed largely of sophomores and juniors and some experienced seniors.

Wausau was strongest in the running events with good times turned in by Jim Leiterman in the dashes, Jerry Winters in the 440, Tom Tranetzki in the 880 and Bernie Schmidt in the mile. The mile and 880 relay teams also consistently placed high in every meet.

The Jacks weren't as strong in the field events, but many young performers showed ability and promise for future seasons.

Tom Tranetzki passed the baton to Dave Ullrich as they prepared for the Peacock Relays held at La Crosse.

STANDING. Peschau, Clark, Peschau, Anderson, Larson
KNEELING. Reynolds, Smith, Brodhead, Reed, Johnston

Racketmen Began Season Successfully

The Wausau High School tennis team, coached by Lowell Johnson, started the season by winning back to back meets when they defeated Appleton, and then went on to beat the defending State Champions from Neenah.

Although the team had only six players returning from last year's entire team, it formed the nucleus for a fine team with some capable first year men rounding out the squad. Captain Robby Brodhead, Dave Johnston and Pat Reed were Coach Johnson's only remaining lettermen and they continued to play outstanding tennis for WHS throughout the season. Sophomore Jim Smith showed a great deal of promise during the season.

Teamwork paid off as Jim Smith returned an easy backhand at the net, while Pat Reed backed him up.

Guy Reynolds took some practice swings during one of the regular practice sessions that were held after school at Thom Field.

STANDING: Perry, Zubrich, Roeder, Driessen, Neubauer, Dorn, Trantow, Doede.
SITTING Haebig, Seehafer, Neubauer, Alstad, Schade, Richards, Meseke.

Wausau Diamondmen Eyed State Meet

Although the baseball team started the season with a 1 and 3 record, prospects for a successful season looked good. Wausau lost games to Stevens Point, Eau Claire North, and Wisconsin Rapids by one run each, and walloped Rhinelander by a score of 12-2.

Coach Torresani had ten returning lettermen from his "65" team which provided the leadership and ability that was needed to carry the team through a demanding schedule. These lettermen were: Knute Alstad, Chris Doede, John Dorn, Van Driessen, Bill McElrath, Duane Neubauer, Rod Neubauer, Jim Perry, John Trantow, and Darcy Zubrich. Almost every position was filled with a player who had at least one year of varsity experience. The pitching staff had the greatest depth as there were three lettermen who backed each other up at this position.

Last year's team had an 11-8 record and made it all the way to the state tournament at Wisconsin Rapids. With that experience behind them they hoped to better last season's successful record.

The golf team was led by Howie Christensen and Tom Brown, the only two returning lettermen from last year's team. Jack Schade, Stu Rosemurgy, and Dan LaCerte played well for coach Brockmeyer as they came up to fill the gap left by last year's departing seniors. Sophomore Claude Thomas also played very fine varsity matches.

Practices were held every day after school on both the country club and legion golf courses with some boys playing up to 72 holes a week. The boys worked hard to improve on last year's mediocre record, and it was hoped that some would qualify for the state meet.

Returning lettermen Tom Brown and Howie Christensen kept their heads down, and loosened up before a match at the Legion.

Golf Team Newcomers Showed Promise

BACK ROW: Thomas, Nuernberg, Graeble, Johnson, Semerau, Ahrens, Geiger, LaCerte, Rosemurgy
MIDDLE ROW: West, Stueber, Schade, Thomasgard, Carver, Scott, Christiansen, Camp, Onheiber
FRONT ROW: Butler, Brown, Weltman, Tranetzke, Parsons, Meyers, Roehl, Erickson

HOMEROOM BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

FRONT ROW: Brown, McElrath, Brodhead

The Junior champs from last year, homerooms 110 and 216, this year reigned as Senior homeroom basketball champions. By winning all of their games, they also earned the right to fill the position of all school champions. The championship in the Wednesday evening league went to Iowa, which defeated the Indiana team.

In bowling, the High Scorers, of the American League, were matched with the winners in the National League, the All Strikes, for championship gains. Captained by Chuck Streck, the All Strikes were victorious and became all-bowling champions.

Indeed, a big thank you must go to Al Gabriliska, Intramural Director, for his excellent management of all intramural activities

Phy-Ed Classes Offered Form - Fitness

The aim of the girls' physical education classes was three-fold: to uphold the recent trend towards physical fitness, to maintain general health checks, and to provide some background in athletic recreation. Programming was done so almost everyone could participate in some, if not all activities. It included not only the more vigorous sports such as basketball and tennis, but the less strenuous ones including golf and table tennis. Besides recording heights and weights, eye and ear checks were also made from time to time. Basic instruction in many sports was given in hopes of instilling enthusiasm for further participation outside of class

The checking of heights and weights, held each semester, was met by some with mixed emotions.

The girls' gym teachers were: (standing) Miss Tank and Miss Gavinski, (sitting) Miss Becker

Two of the many styles of shooting were demonstrated as the girls' gym classes played basketball

The G.A.A. volleyball champions (standing): Schilling, Westberg, Bensen, Woehlert, Shannon, Gistad, Guenther, Klos, (kneeling) Borth, Jensen, Mathwick

The G.A.A. three high average bowlers were (sitting) Gloria Wenzel, Rosemary Zahn, and (standing) Linda Werth

Girls' Athletic Association Provided

The practice of wearing jumping socks spread to girls' basketball games, as Jamie Brose proved during a practice session

Under the sponsorship of the Girls' Athletic Association, individual competition was held in a wide variety of sports. Directing the many events were Senior Heads: Lynn Weinke — golf, Sue Doescher — basketball, Kathy Hahn — volleyball, Sue Anklam — softball, Jamie Brose — curling, Linda Werth — table tennis, Caroline Brandt — bowling, Pam Mathwick — badminton.

Activities began in the fall with 120 girls participating in the volleyball tournament. Kris M. Jensen's "Cavaliers" placed first with a record of six and one. Another 24 girls entered the table tennis singles competition.

With 200 girls competing in two leagues, bowling proved to be the most popular sport. In the play-off match between league champions, the team captained by Mary Camps defeated Sue Weiland's, winning two out of three games.

The winter sport of curling was also well represented by ten rinks vying for the championship. The regular season ended in a three way tie among the rinks headed by Linda Werth, Kris J. Jensen, and Dona Schwichtenberg. The play off resulted in a win by the Schwichtenberg rink.

A record number of girls turned out for basketball. Play ended with the "Travelers", captained by May Levandoski, leading the eight team race with six wins and one loss.

In the spring, the golf tournament was welcomed by many returning veterans as well as the beginners. Other spring events included badminton doubles, archery, and softball. Non-competitive activities were synchronized swimming and the horse-back riding interest group.

The competition in G.A.A. curling required concentration as Mary Holtz and Mary LaHaie demonstrated during their matches.

Fun-Filled Exercise

Mary Camps gave the impression that she was bowling to music as she led her team to the G.A.A. championship.

The early spring like weather provided senior head Lynn Weinke a chance to get in some pre tournament practice

Table tennis champions, Phyllis Woehlert and Linda Werth, showed their victory smiles while relaxing on the field of battle

Cheerleaders Organized School Spirit

Varsity cheerleaders were Linda Werth, Patter Morrison, Jamie Brose, Karen Hahn, Carol Depper, Sue Shepherd, Tini Stoen, Cathy Trenbath, Kathy Morris.

The enthusiasm exhibited by Carol Depper at a crucial game was typical of both cheerleading squads.

Senior High has always been fortunate to have enthusiastic crowds at its athletic events. However, this mass enthusiasm had to be properly directed for both the good of the school and the individual players. Good sportsmanship was the main goal of this year's varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders.

With the election of the new varsity squad each spring, the work began for the next school year. Kathy Morris was chosen captain to act as organizer for the group and to represent the students of WHS in the Student Council as Commissioner of Pep. With all the formalities out of the way, the girls started the practices which began during the summer and continued until the end of the basketball season. Although generating pep was the main intent of most cheers, timing, coordination, and patterns had to be worked out to make them appealing to the student body. Along with cheering at the particular sporting events, the squad worked on posters and announcements to remind the students of coming games and to create a greater interest in those which were not well attended.

Creating interest for the junior varsity teams at WHS, was the primary function of the junior varsity cheerleaders. Their help in the promotion of athletic affairs was greatly welcomed by the varsity.

The direction of both of these squads was done by Miss Gavinski and Mrs. Kickland. Although the squads were able to exercise a certain amount of independence in their actions and decisions, it was reassuring to have such fine advisors.

Aerial gymnastics, a part of every cheerleader's life, were performed by Cathy Trembath and Karen Hahn during a time out.

The little room, known as cheerleading headquarters, was the scene of activity in preparation for the Lumberjacks games.

ADVERTISEMENTS

The pages that follow, will serve several significant purposes. They will bring the names of our cooperating Wausau business people before the eyes of all who turn to them; they will show some additional aspects of student life in our school during the current year, and, not the least important, they will provide space for students to jot down memorable notes. The business staff advisor, Mr. Dzubay, and the patient photographers all deserve credit for their important contributions to this section of the book.

At times like this, the WAHISCAN staff rejoiced in the fact that Ray Gehring did not suffer from acrophobia

Several times a year Mr. Don Gasch of the Fey Publishing Company came from Wisconsin Rapids to help editors June Foerster, Alson Treble, Larry Hannemann, Turi Stoen, and advisor Mr. Rosenhauer with the technical problems confronting the yearbook staff.

We Thank These People For Their Help In

Ray Toburen, Ray Gering, and Dick Meid used their originality and skill to add a display of fine photography.

Mrs. Hodges took charge of distributing the 2185 yearbooks while Mr. Dzubay advised the business staff in advertising.

I would like to extend a most sincere thanks to the 1966 editorial staff who have put into this book their time, talent, and hard work. Not only have they kept up a fine tradition, but have set for themselves standards unequaled in fifty years of WAHISCANS.

Mr. Rosenhauer, our dedicated advisor, deserves special recognition for his patient training and guidance without which our annual would not have been possible.

To Mr. Dzubay and his business staff who took care of the ads section, and to Mrs. Hodges for her efficient management of distribution, go thanks for the handling of business matters.

The photographers of Toburen's Studio have been especially cooperative and helpful as they spent hours taking pictures and extra hours perfecting them for use in the book.

For their kind cooperation and willingness to help, I am grateful to the office secretaries and especially Principal Taylor, Mr. Poulos, and Mr. Jacobson.

Mr. Don Gasch of Fey Publishing Company and Mr. Don Adams of S. K. Smith Company have personally helped by giving professional advice and together with Boehm Binding have produced the end result.

Thanks also to the Wausau Daily Record-Herald for contributing pictures and to Mr. George Bush who took the class pictures for the sophomores and juniors.

The Production Of The 1966 WAHISCAN

When the 1966 WAHISCAN staff met the printer's deadline, they raced to Rosy with smiling faces for mutual congratulations

Remember

Dear Cindy,
What a time we had!

I'll never forget the time we had the fun with my Dad's car.

and the times we had never forget the times we had

Dear Cinders,

It's been a real privilege having you as friend for the last 4 1/2 years. I am very grateful to you in a special way - for getting me into 1st period band, at least letting Mr E. know that I wanted to get into band. Thank you for being such a help to me and also for being such a fine and sincere friend. Off to have a wonderful summer in Canada or wherever you're going. Best wishes to my best friend.

Love
Shirley

Andi
Another year is over and next year we are seniors. Have lots of fun this summer and see you in August
Jacque
Maeger

To Mom,

It's been grand being with you this past year throughout the trials & tribulations of choir. We've been through a lot together. I'll be looking forward to seeing you this summer. Best of luck always in everything you always do to a great girl's friend. Best wishes for the greatest year of all, your senior year. A friend always (your daughter)
Corene Hagen

Cindy -
Been fun in choir this year. Have fun this summer. I probably see you. Good luck always - on your solo next year.
Kendal Whitson

Cindy -
You're a real good kid and don't ever loose that sparkle. Be good! I'll see you next year.
Cindy
Kent

- No whom it may concern -
It's been an interesting homeroom to say the least. Good luck in the future and have fun this summer.

Harry Sawyer

Cindy,
 But of luck to the But of kids. Be good and stay the way you are & sincerely hope to see you next year when we'll finally be mighty, mighty seniors.
 Happy summer!
 Happy shella

Cindy,
 It's been a lot of fun in homeroom this year. Good luck to a sweet girl. Have a nice summer & see you next year.
 She

Cindy,
 It sure was a great year. Good luck as a Senior.
 -Mory Hopkins-

Cindy,
 Have a great summer
 and good luck!
 Sally Helgren

Cindy George? We heard are 2 hated teachers & we got them. I guess it was just luck. Have fun this summer and be good
 J. R. Welch

Cindy
 This summer
 I'll see you at 7 nap.
 I just think next year we'll be BIG SENIORS.
 Love & luck
 "Dor"
